

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

ON MISSION OF PEACE

There sailed from San Francisco harbor the other day a squadron of Uncle Sam's machines of war sent on an errand of peace. Eight of the strongest and fastest armored cruisers in the service are plowing their way across the Pacific into oriental waters, carrying to the peoples of Japan and China messages of good will and friendship from the citizens of this country.

The second "peace fleet" is not so powerful nor imposing as the first, but nevertheless made up of vessels representing the very acme of naval construction in their type.

The squadron consists of the cruisers Tennessee, California, South Dakota, Washington, West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland and Pennsylvania, all 22-knot ships, ranging from 13,000 to 15,000 tons in displacement.

The vessels arrived at Honolulu, Hawaii, September 11, where they will remain until October 5. Their next stop will be at Nares Harbor, Admiralty Islands, off the coast of New Guinea, and from there they will steam to Manila, where they are expected to arrive about November 1. Then will come a month of hard work at target practice, upon the completion of which the vessels of the fleet will separate and in pairs visit the ports of the Hermit kingdom and China. On the nineteenth the fleet will reassemble off Yokohama and steam for home. They will pay another visit to Hawaii from February 1 to 8, and are expected to reach San Francisco about February 15, five days before the admiral will retire under the age rule.

During this five months' cruise, which will approximate 28,000 miles, the squadron will be under the command of one of the ablest naval officers in the service, Rear Admiral Uriel Sebree. A Missouri man, he entered the naval academy during early war times, graduating when only 19 years of age. He has seen service in all quarters of the globe, including the polar regions, being a member of the Arctic relief expedition on the Tigress, in 1873, and on the Greeley relief expedition under Admiral Schley in 1884.

ONE OF HARRIMAN'S AIDS

Julius Kruttschnitt is one of the late E. H. Harriman's chief assistants in the management of the many railroads which he controlled. Kruttschnitt was born in New Orleans in 1854 and is a graduate of an engineering school and Washington and Lee university. He entered the railroad service in 1878 as resident engineer in charge of construction of Morgan's Louisiana & Texas railroad. After its completion he became roadmaster and later general roadmaster and chief engineer. He became assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific Company's Atlantic System (lines east of El Paso, Texas) in 1885-9. He was promoted to general manager in 1889 and in 1895 was made general manager of all lines of the Southern Pacific Company, with headquarters at San Francisco. He later became fourth vice-president, and in 1904 was made director of maintenance and operation of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company and Southern Pacific Company.

Kruttschnitt is an engineer by training and is given credit for having in 10 years made the Harriman lines the efficient transportation agencies they are today. His radical departures from the old railway methods were startling, but his superior upheld every innovation and every one spelled new success. Upon none other, it is said, did the railroad magnate lean with such confidence, and in all of Harriman's absence from the scene of action Kruttschnitt was the moving mind.

A LEADING EDUCATOR

Hon. James Yadin Joyner, state superintendent of public instruction in North Carolina, who is the new president of the National Educational association, is doing as grand a work in aiding to bring the blessings of education to the poor whites of the south as Booker T. Washington is among the blacks.

After graduating from the University of North Carolina in 1881, Mr. Joyner immediately entered upon the profession of teaching and for several years was superintendent of La Grange academy and superintendent of schools in Lenoir county, in which capacity he first showed the ability to uplift the standard of the white schools of the south that has since brought him fame.

For one year after this he practiced law in Goldsboro, N. C., but gave it up to return to teaching, becoming superintendent of the graded schools of Goldsboro. In 1899 he was called to the chair of English language and literature at the State Normal and Industrial college of North Carolina. Since 1902 he has been state superintendent of public instruction for North Carolina. As secretary of the Association of State Superintendents of the South, his influence and activity have been felt throughout that section.

He is a member of the board of aldermen of Goldsboro, a missionary Baptist and a Democrat in politics.

NEW DIRECTOR OF THE MINT

Andrew P. Andrews, the new director of the mint, is one evidence that the Taft administration, like that of Roosevelt, has no prejudice against young men of scholarly and technical attainments and that the departments at Washington are to have the benefit of the public-spirited services of a good many men who are not merely practical politicians.

Mr. Andrews is a teacher of economics at Harvard, who has specialized in the subjects of money and finance and who has during the past year been a working expert for Senator Aldrich and the monetary commission. He has every qualification for a successful director of the mint. Another new official of the treasury department is Mr. R. E. Cabell, who has been made commissioner of internal revenue. Mr. Cabell was made postmaster of Richmond, Va., by President Roosevelt and his efficiency in that office not less than his qualities of character and personality have gained for him the high regard of President Taft and Secretary MacVegh.

TO DISCLOSE SOCIETY SECRETS

British society, especially that part of it which is connected with the court circle, is eagerly and anxiously awaiting the appearance of the memoirs of Mrs. Langtry, the Jersey Lily, who promises to tell the world frankly what she knows about the high personages with whom she has consorted.

As the actress was at one time a friend of King Edward, then Prince of Wales, and moved in his circle, the appearance of her book, of which she has already written 60,000 words, is looked forward to with interest by the entire nation. In talking of her intentions Mrs. Langtry says:

"It needs a lot of pluck to say what you want to about real people."

This is taken to forecast startling disclosures. Mrs. Langtry's reputation as an authoress is limited at present to her play, "The Crossways." This was acted before the king and queen at the Imperial theater, a single performance only being given and "no notices" requested of the critics. The actress afterward toured the piece in America, where it was very successful—in fact, she still receives checks for performances of it in the United States.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WOMEN'S BACKS.

How to Make a Bad Back Better.

Women who suffer with backache, bearing down pains, dizzy spells and that constant feeling of dullness and tiredness, will find hope in the advice of Mrs. Mary Hinson of 21 Strother St., Mt. Sterling, Ky. "Had I not used Doan's Kidney Pills, I believe I would not be living today," says Mrs. Hinson. "My eyesight was poor, I suffered with nervous, splitting headaches, spots would dance before my eyes and at times I would be so dizzy I would have to grasp something for support. My back was so weak and painful I could hardly bend over to button my shoes and could not get around without suffering severely. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first, and I continued until practically well again."

FALL PAINTING.

The majority of property owners are under the impression that spring time is the only painting time. But the fall of the year offers several advantages to the painter. One of the most important is that surfaces are almost sure to be dry, and there is no frost or inner moisture to work out after the paint is applied.

His Size Was Known.

"I want some collars and neckties for my husband!" she snapped. "Yes, madam." The clerk offered her the latest thing.

"What size are these?" asked the lady.

"Why, twelve and a half, madam!" "How on earth did you guess that?" "Ah," replied the clerk, smiling, "gentlemen who let their wives select their collars and ties always take that size!"

Starch, like everything else, is being constantly improved, the patent Starches put on the market 25 years ago are very different and inferior to those of the present day. In the latest discovery—Defiance Starch—all injurious chemicals are omitted, while the addition of another ingredient, invented by us, gives to the Starch a strength and smoothness never approached by other brands.

Wild Horses in Southwest.

Wild horses are found roaming in bands on the plains of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California. Of 50 horses captured by rangers in the Modoc national forest, about half proved to be branded stock which had grown wild, the others being horses that had never known the ownership of man.

Big Berlin Philanthropy.

More than 50,000 children were enabled by the authorities of Berlin to spend this summer on land within easy reach of the city limits. They were assigned plots where they could play and cultivate gardens profitably with the help of their families and the advice of public instructors.

You'll Have to Tie it Down

—But is it any wonder? There never was a food that so pleased the tastes of the little ones—or so well agreed with them. And the same is true with grown-ups. All are ready and anxious for more before the next meal comes around. It's all in the flavor—the delightful, different flavor that has made a nation of Corn Flake eaters. But this flavor is found only in Kellogg's, the kind that you should ask for and insist on having. Your grocer has it or can get it for you.

The Root of Altruism.

The three eternal roots of altruistic energy are these: First, the principle of justice; that there is a moral law before which all men are equal, so that I ought to help my neighbor to his rights. Second, the principle of charity; that I owe infinite tenderness to any shape or kind of man, however unworthy or useless to the state. Third, the principle of free will; that I can really decide to help my neighbor, and am truly disgraced if I do not do so. To this may be added the idea of a definite judgment; that is, that the action will at some time terribly matter to the helper and the helped.—G. K. Chesterton.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.
